

Landesbank Baden-Wuerttemberg

Update

Key Rating Drivers

Landesbank Baden-Wuerttemberg's (LBBW) Long-Term Issuer Default Rating (IDR) is driven by its Shareholder Support Rating (SSR), which reflects a very high likelihood of support from the bank's owners, the regional members of Germany's savings banks group Sparkassen-Finanzgruppe (Sparkassen) (SFG; A+/Stable), the State of Baden-Wuerttemberg and the City of Stuttgart.

LBBW's Viability Rating (VR) is one notch below the implied 'bbb+', due to the bank's subdued average profitability. The VR also reflects the bank's exposure to cyclical corporate sectors, strong asset-quality metrics and adequate capitalisation. LBBW's acquisition of Berlin Hyp AG is neutral to Fitch Ratings' assessment of its standalone credit strength.

Owners' Support Highly Likely: Fitch's support assumptions are underpinned by LBBW's focus on its statutory roles, and by the statutes of the institutional protection scheme (IPS) of SFG and the Landesbanken. We use SFG's Long-Term IDR as the anchor for LBBW's support-driven ratings, because we believe support would need to come from both SFG and Baden Wuerttemberg to avoid triggering state-aid considerations and resolution if LBBW fails.

We notch LBBW's SSR down twice from SFG's 'A+' to reflect the regulatory restrictions on support, due to the EU's state-aid examination requirement. The two notches also reflect LBBW's strategic, but not key or integral, role, for its owners. The Short-Term IDR is the higher of two options that map to its 'A-' Long-Term IDR, because LBBW has privileged access to SFG's ample liquidity and funding, and its owners' propensity to support is more certain in the near term.

High Sector Concentrations: LBBW's strong regional corporate-banking franchise benefits from Baden Wuerttemberg's large economy. However, this regional focus leads to concentrations on cyclical industries and, to some extent, on large borrowers, in particular on the commercial real estate (CRE) and automotive sectors, although the bank is reducing its exposure to the latter. Stiff competition in most of LBBW's business lines limits the bank's pricing power and is likely to continue to weigh on its profitability.

Low Impaired Loans: LBBW's exposure to cyclical industries is higher than that of its Landesbanken peers, and its asset quality is sensitive to the ongoing global supply chain disruptions, input price shocks and structural changes. We expect its loan impairment charges (LICs) and Stage 3 loans to rise only moderately in 2023 from their exceptionally low level at end-1H22 because of large precautionary provisions buffers. However, its four-year average Stage 3 ratio should remain below 2% in the coming years, which is a rating strength.

Moderate Average Profitability: LBBW's operating profit/risk-weighted assets (RWAs) ratio improved in 2021 and 1H22, benefitting from strong business growth and low LICs. We expect improving net interest rate margins to compensate for regulatory RWAs inflation. However, it will be more difficult for the bank to execute on its growth strategy in the deteriorating economic environment.

Adequate Capitalisation: We expect LBBW's common equity Tier 1 (CET1) ratio to remain comfortably above its 13% target at end-2022. We view this level as adequate but not strong in light of LBBW's business model that exposes the bank to potential cyclical performance swings. Stronger profit retention will be key to offset higher RWAs from the bank's growth strategy and the phasing-in of the Basel output floor from 2025.

Rating Sensitivities

Factors that Could, Individually or Collectively, Lead to Negative Rating Action/Downgrade

A downgrade of SFG's IDRs, or a change in LBBW's ownership or in its owners' strategic commitment to the bank, could lead to a downgrade of LBBW's IDRs and SSR. LBBW's VR has sufficient headroom at the current level to absorb a moderate deterioration of its asset quality and capitalisation. The VR would likely be downgraded if we expect the bank's Stage 3 loans ratio to rise to and remain above 3%, or if the CET1 ratio falls durably below 12.5%.

Factors that Could, Individually or Collectively, Lead to Positive Rating Action/Upgrade

An upgrade of LBBW's IDRs and SSR would require an upgrade of SFG's ratings. An upgrade of the bank's VR would require a limited impact from the economic fallout of the Ukraine-Russia conflict on the bank's asset quality and capitalisation. An upgrade would also be contingent on a sustainable improvement in LBBW's profitability, with an average operating profit/RWAs ratio close to 1%, without a material increase in risk appetite.

Other Debt and Issuer Ratings

Rating level	Rating
Deposits	A/F1
Senior Preferred	A/F1
Senior Non-Preferred	A-
State-Guaranteed Senior Unsecured	AAA
Tier 2 Subordinated	BB+
State-Guaranteed Tier 2 Subordinated	AAA

Source: Fitch Ratings

LBBW's long-term deposit rating, senior preferred debt rating and Derivative Counterparty Rating (DCR) are one notch above the bank's Long-Term IDR because of the protection provided to preferred creditors by its resolution buffers. Its senior non-preferred (SNP) debt rating is in line with its Long-Term IDR for the same reason.

LBBW's short-term senior preferred and deposit ratings are the lower of the two options that map to the respective 'A' long-term ratings. This is because, despite the owners' very high support propensity, the lengthy process required to support a Landesbank could impede the prompt flow of funds that we would expect for a 'F1+' short-term rating.

The 'AAA' of LBBW's grandfathered state-guaranteed senior unsecured and Tier 2 subordinated notes reflect our view of the creditworthiness of the guarantor, Baden Wuerttemberg, which is closely linked to that of Germany (AAA/Stable). We believe the grandfathered guarantee similarly protects senior and subordinated debt because the statutory guarantor's liability (Gewahrtraegerhaftung) does not differentiate among seniorities. In our view, regulatory and EU state-aid frameworks do not constrain the level of support for grandfathered debt.

LBBW's non-guaranteed Tier 2 subordinated debt is rated two notches below the VR to reflect loss severity that is in line with Fitch's baseline approach.

Significant Changes from Last Review

In 1H22 LBBW's pre-tax income increased by 11% (yoy) primarily due to stable revenues and moderate LICs, supported by positive fair-value swings of trading assets, mainly interest-rate derivatives. LBBW continued to strengthen its stock of loan loss allowances, and the reported LICs in 1H22 were mainly driven by model-adjustments, referring to performing Stage 1 and 2 loans rather than actual defaults. LBBW's asset quality remained resilient, as reflected in a sound impaired loans ratio at of 0.9% at end-1H22, which puts the bank in a good position to manage the expected weakening of the domestic economy from 2H22.

Fitch expects that LBBW will continue to operate at a relatively high cost-to-income ratio (CIR) above LBBW's own 60% target due to inflationary pressures, combined with investments in the bank's focus areas and higher levies. The latter increased in 1H22 by EUR51 million (yoy) and LBBW's cost base in total by EUR82 million (8% yoy) resulting in a CIR of about 66%. In 2022, LBBW's CIR will benefit from the integration of Berlin Hyp given its lean cost base; however, considering Berlin Hyp's overall small size compared with LBBW, Fitch estimates the positive impact will be only up to 2pp.

LBBW revised its 2022 pre-tax profit guidance upwards to above EUR1 billion. According to LBBW, extraordinary effects from the first-time consolidation of Berlin Hyp (not further specified) will support LBBW's revenues. Fitch believes that this accounting uplift is likely to reverse in the medium term.

The group's CET1 ratio decline to a still sound 13.9% at end-1H22 was primarily due to inflating RWAs resulting from loan growth.

LBBW's SSR reflects a strong likelihood of support from SFG, Baden-Wuerttemberg and Stuttgart. Our support assumptions are underpinned by LBBW's statutory roles and by its membership in SFG's IPS. We derive LBBW's support-driven ratings from SFG's Long-Term IDR as we believe support would need to come from both SFG and Baden Wuerttemberg to avoid triggering state-aid considerations and resolution if LBBW fails. We notch LBBW's SSR down twice from SFG's 'A+' to reflect regulatory restrictions to support due to the EU's requirement for state-aid examination. The two-notch difference also reflects LBBW's strategic, but not key and integral role, for its owners.
